

MacPhail, M.K., Vegetation and climates in southern Tasmania since the last glaciation, Quaternary Research 11, 306–341, 1979.

Mann, S., N.H.C. Sparks, R.B. Frankel, D.A. Bazylinski, and H.W. Jannasch, Biomineralization of ferrimagnetic greigite (Fe$_3$S$_4$) and iron pyrite (FeS$_2$) in a magnetotactic bacterium, Nature, 343, 258–261, 1990.

Markovskiy, V.S., B.G. Yakovlev, and V.S. Sukach, Concerning magnetization sources of the depth zones of the Earth crust (on the example of the granulite facies rocks of the Enderby Land and the Ukrainian Shield), Geofizicheskii Zhurnal (The Journal of Geophysics)11, 85–90, 1989.

Marshak, S., G. Lu, and D.V. Kent, Reconnaissance investigation of remagnetization in Paleozoic limestones from the mid-continent of North America, Eos, Transactions of the American Geophysical Union70, 310, 1989.

McClelland-Brown, E., Paleomagnetic estimates of temperatures reached in contact metamorphism, Geology, 9, 112–116, 1981.

Merrill, R.T., Magnetic effects associated with chemical changes in igneous rocks, Geophysical Surveys, 2, 277–311, 1975.

Miyamoto, Y., Magnetoelastic measurements of magnetite (Fe₃O₄) at low temperatures, Ferroelectrics 161, 117–123, 1995.
Moloni, K., B.M. Moskowitz, and E.D. Dahlberg, Domain structures on magnetite as observed with a low-temperature magnetic force microscope (abstract), IUGG session, 1995.

Morris, R.V., H.V. Lauer, Jr., C.A. Lawson, E.K. Gibson, Jr., G.A. Nace, and C. Stewart, Spectral and other physiochemical properties of submicron powders of hematite (a-Fe₂O₃), maghemite (g-Fe₂O₃), magnetite (Fe₃O₄), goethite (a-FeOOH), and lepidocrocite (g-FeOOH), Journal of Geophysical Research B: Solid Earth, 90, 3126–3144, 1985.

Moskowitz, B.M., Biogenic magnetite: novel source of single domain particles (abstract), Eos, Transactions of the American Geophysical Union 73 (43 suppl.), 143, 1992.

Moskowitz, B.M., and B.J. Wanamaker, Single crystal titanomagnetite grown by the floating-zone technique (abstract), Eos, Transactions of the American Geophysical Union 72 (17 suppl.), 100, 1991.

